HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER

HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive

Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.

Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.

It fastens without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and speedily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.

It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

GOV. SEWARD'S ADDRESS AT SALEM.

A STATESMAN'S VIEWS OF OREGON AND THE NORTHWEST COAST. THE FUTURE OF OUR STATE. WORDS OF WISDOM REGARDING OUR TRUE POLICY AS TO IMMIGRATION AND INTERCOURSE WITH FOREIGN NATIONS.

On Wednesday evening last an immense crowd assembled at the Wigwam in Salem to meet Hon. William H. Seward. Being introduced by Gov. Woods, he spoke as follows:

FELLOW-CITIZENS:

The older States, situated eastward of the Missouri and below the base of the Rocky Mountains have complete industrial, social and political systems, and fixed habits. The traveler there is intrusive, if under any persuasion, he attempts to speak of their peculiar resources, policies or duties. Deference to this principle determined me, when I left Auburn, to make no wayside speeches during my present journey. The magnet, when brought into the presence of iron, finds it no harder to maintain its own polarity than I have found it to adhere to my prudent resolution. Ever since I passed the Mississippi I am traveling in regions grand and vast, but comparatively new, and among communities incompletely organized, needful of immigration and capital, and therefore ambitious that their resources, advantages and attractions may be made known.

Art has seldom produced a more striking picture than the abandoned infant Hercules defending himself against serpents in his cradle. How poor that admired conception appears when contrasted with the precarious but energetic and successful vigor and energy of emigrants from the Atlantic shores settling and establishing new States—members of the American Republic, in the native forests, wildernesses and deserts, which extend across the American continent. Relying upon their own energies, as all the States of this Union, at every stage of their existence must rely, they disdain the sympathy of all foreign nations. Do they require too much in asking that their capacity and loyalty to the Union shall be known and appreciated?

I early accepted and continually held fast to these political convictions—First: that if a nation desires to be independent and prosperous, and enjoy peace at home and abroad, it must expand itself commensurately with its resources and advantages. Second: that human bondage is incompatible with a successful republic. Third: that the permanent continuance of European or monarchical government in the American hemisphere would be injurious and dangerous to the United States. Fourth: that in the expansion of the republic, the establishment and acceptance of new States on the same footing as the original States, is essential for the security of civil and religious liberty. I seem, indeed, to myself, to have lived chiefly for the purpose of laboring to defend an inchoate republic against external and internal dangers, and to expand it upon the principle I have mentioned. Let the world judge, then, of the satisfaction I enjoy in witnessing the success of this policy, and of the gratitude I feel in being so kindly received here, at the capital of the new State of Oregon, as I have been received before at the capitals of the other new States and Territories which I have visited. You will excuse me if the habit of nationality of thought and reasoning which I have contracted has rendered me incapable of considering Oregon as an isolated State, or of separating my ideas of her condition and products from the general ideas which I have formed of all the States and Territories, mutually connected with each other, and subordinate in their proper relations as parts of the whole United States.

In California there is no longer need for external encouragement. The highest expectations of its settlers have not unjustly ripened into absolute assurance. San Francisco is firmly established as the Constantinople of American empire, and California exercises fully and wisely an important political influence in the United States and throughout the world. The other new States and Territories have not yet secured an equal position. The dwellers in these States are constantly asking of every visitor, "what do you think we shall be, and when?" I must answer with the same confidence which, among men of little faith, has sometimes procured for me the character of an optimist. Kansas, in her infancy, the Cinderella, has already become a leading and effective member of the political family, by which she was despised. Nebraska, standing upon the west side of the Missouri, has seized the railroads of the Atlantic States, and welded and rivited them with the system of railroads which has successfully began to traverse and ramify the States and Territories of the Pacific shore. Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, surmounting Indian troubles and reckless speculations, have reached a point of civil and social establishment from which it need not be feared they will recede. I have not yet been able to visit Arizona, but I have learned enough of Montana, Idaho and Utah to know that they are reasonably assured of a successful and prosperous career. Nevada, although politically separated from California, is a full sharer in her rising prosperity and greatness. Considerations of convenience, not choice, carried me northward before I was able to visit Oregon. The Territories of Washington and Alaska, extending (with the exception of British Columbia) from the 49th parallel of latitude along the islands and coasts of America to the Arctic Ocean, are, as might be expected, feebler than the more southern States and Territories. Nevertheless, I realized, if, indeed, I did not discover, in those Territories, a new, peculiar and magnificent field of commerce and empire. I found one continuous and expanding archipelago along the coast, from the base of Puget Sound in Washington to Mt. St. Elias in Alaska. I found land and sea teeming with provision for the subsistence of a population adequate to bring the marine, mineral animal and vegetable resources of that remote and secluded region into a productive State. This neglected portion of the country furnishes even now to refined nations in northern climates the furs which from considerations of need and of luxury they continually demand. No metal used in arts of commerce is absent there. The forests are luxuriant, universal and inexhaustible. When I saw British, Chinese and Chilian, as well as American vessels, bearing away the timber and lumber, with difficulty wrested from the wasting fires of the summer by the feeblest of all American populations, and conveying them away to be used in civil and naval architecture on both sides of the Pacific Ocean, I needed no other suggestion of the fact that I had reached that very place where, within the period of an early future, the navies, mercantile and armed, of America, and even of the world, are to be built. Knowing the importance of ship-building and navigation in every stage of civilization, my mind was expanded with wonder and admiration of the ultimate prosperity and greatness of the North Pacific Coast.

Although British Columbia remains as Oregon not long ago was, and as the region west of the Mississippi so recently was, and as the whole of the United States once were, subject to an European power, I nevertheless found existing there commercial and political forces which render a permanent political separation of British Columbia from Alaska and Washington Territory impossible.

Of Washington Territory, so lately a part of Oregon, it is hardly necessary to say here that the British traveler was not mistaken who, in 1836, not foreseeing its severance from the British crown, pronounced Puget Sound a base of future empire.

In the State of Oregon, I have only explored the Columbia river to the Dalles, and the Willamette Valley in the vicinity of Portland, Milwaukie, Oswego, Oregon City, Monmouth, Albany, Santiam and this capital. No one will accuse me of infidelity to New York and the other Atlantic States, whether North or South. Nevertheless, I shall not hesitate hereafter to advise the student in natural science, who desires to learn how islands, mountains and countries are heaved up from the deep—how rivers are traced out, defined and run—how minerals are secreted in the earth, and how valleys are formed, spread out and fertilized, to ascend the Columbia river from the sea through its cascades and cataracts, to its sources in the interior of the continent. Nor shall I fail to advise the tourist, who delights in the grand and the beautiful, to leave behind him the Rhine and the Hudson, after seeing the one marvel of Niagara, and to come here and admire the snow clad mountains which dominate over the Pacific coast. Wonderful horizontal and massive foundations lie along the river banks, in the shape of wharves, docks, ports and gateways. One these everlasting foundations are raised, not merely one column of basaltic palisades, but terraces of basaltic palisades, which rising one after another, and assuming the magnificent outlines of towers, pinnacles, castles, coliseums and cathedrals, seem to pierce the very clouds.

The early emigrants here saw, as they descended the Rocky mountains, boundless and luxuriant prairies, watered by the Willamette, and a spacious forest region traversed by the Columbia plains, forests and rivers unequalled on the Pacific coast. That coast, northward and southward, was occupied by inert races, from whom the settlers of Oregon apprehended no rivalry. They, expected that some seaport in their own Territory would become the principal seat of the western commerce. This expectation is disappointed. The opening of seaports, with inland connections, at the base of the northwestern Archipelago on Puget Sound, indicates the commercial development there, to which I have already alluded. San Francisco, with its magnificent bay and fortified Golden Gate, has taken the position which before was erroneously assigned to Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia river. So it happened that Oregon proper has failed to obtain the capital prize in the commercial lottery of the Pacific coast. It ought to be enough, however, to reconcile the people of Oregon to that disappointment to know that the central position of the State, between and contiguous to the two great commercial outposts of the Pacific, affords her the advantage of being at once the granary and manufactory for both.

It is in Oregon, so far as I am able to determine, and nowhere else, that two climates, the Atlantic, with its heated summers and inclement winters, and the Pacific, with its colder summers and milder winter, embrace and produce a higher and more varied fertility than is elsewhere realized. The Atlantic States, with their grassy valleys, are already becoming dependant upon the slopes of the Rocky Mountains for the supply of animal provisions. The fruits of Oregon are unsurpassed in quality and unequalled in abundance. Wheat and other cereals grow and ripen here almost without care as abundantly as they do with the use of irrigation in Utah, while the native soil, everywhere covered with fern and annual flowers, provokes the farmer to the cultivation of the potato and other esculent roots. What acquaintance I have made with the adventurous miners, descending the Columbia river, satisfies me that if it were possible for the laborer to fail in other occupations, he would even in that case find an abundant reward in the gold deposits of the mountains. The useful metals and minerals abound everywhere, while a vast hydraulic power, invaluable under all circumstances and indispensable in new communities, is distributed throughout all parts of the State. I know, indeed, that the present dwellers in California and Washington think that they possess forest, agricultural and manufacturing advantages and resources commensurate with the future which they anticipate. My own observation of the ever increasing exigencies of New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston, Paris, Liverpool and London is conclusive with me upon the subject. The territorial lines which divide one political jurisdiction into distinct States not unnaturally tend to circumscribe and confuse our ideas of the future of each of the several States. No one would be dissatisfied with the prospect of Oregon, if it were included within the political jurisdiction of California and if it had continued to retain the shores of Puget Sound. It is hardly necessary to say, on the other hand, that the political subdivision of the region tend, not to diminish, but to magnify the prosperity of every part.

Such is the future which I argue for the State of Oregon. This destiny, of course exacts, just as the future of every part of the United States always does, an increase of population and capital. I regard this condition as already secured. Population will seek and find every place, even those most remote and least known, where industry already organized and established assures to the laborer a certain reward. One need only to look into Portland, Dalles City, Oregon City and other towns, to see that capital is profitably employed. One need only to look over the fields and orchards in the agricultural districts, and upon the vessels engaged in inland transportation on the Willamette, to enable him to forsee a speedy subdivision of immense farms among multiplied emigrants. Nevertheless, population is not to be grown here or elsewhere in our country in sufficient numbers and with sufficient haste. It must everywhere be induced from abroad. It will not go anywhere until its going can be made cheap and easy by improved transportation. The Columbia River and the Willamette, although noble streams, cannot unaided, perform the work. They do not penetrate the sources of emigration, nor adequately distribute it through the State. They must be reinforced with railroads—first, railroad to San Francisco and Puget Sound, where the immediate consumers of your agricultural products will dwell; next, railroads through the mining regions intersecting the existing Pacific Railroad and such others as shall be built. The receivers of your productions along and at the ends of such railroads will forward in return the emigrants and laborers whom you will require in increasing the production. Nor would you hasten the future of your State, which I regard as the common interest of the whole Republic, by suffering yourselves to be involved as partisans in the local and personal passions, ambitions and jealousies of other communities. No State or nation has ever flourished that was unsocial, inhospitable, or intolerant. Your statesmen in the national councils, if they are wise, will foster and cultivate harmony and peace equally throughout the whole Republic, and harmony and peace equally with all foreign nations, insisting at the same time, as is their right, upon a policy at home and abroad which shall be adapted to the interests of the Pacific. Such a policy will require that the United States shall own and possess salt-producing islands on your coast, and sugar and coffee producing islands in both oceans, and will regard the extension of American invention and enterprise into Japan, China, Australia and India, as worthy of consideration equally with international commerce between the United States and the countries of Western Europe.

I found in your morning paper yesterday the following dispatch. "The ship Norway arrived on the 4th of September, 157 days from Cardiff. This ship brings iron for ten miles of the East Side Road, being the first installment of 2,000 tons purchased by Ben Holladay & Co. The rest is on another vessel, which is due in thirty days, if she makes an average voyage." This mere mention of an incidental commercial transaction suggests what Oregon and the whole Pacific coast needs first, such manufacture of your own metals as will relieve you from the necessity of importing iron from any foreign country; and, second, the construction of a ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, which will reduce the navigation between the Pacific shore and the Atlantic, of both continents, an hundred and twenty days.

I know too well that political, religious and social objections are made against the policy of freedom and immigration which I advocate. But such objections are as old as the Republic. They have assailed and at times threatened to strangle or arrest this great policy, which was wisely engrafted upon the Constitution of the United States. What would have been our condition now, and our present prospects, if the country had listened to objections of the same nature against the abolition of African slavery, a measure to which we are indebted for entire and complete national independence? What if we had yielded to the fiery resistance made to that Irish emigration which has constructed so many of our canals and railroads, and built so many of our cities? What if we had been prevailed upon to repel and reject that great German emigration which has given a new impulse to our arts, our literature and our science?

We have no excuse for admitting such objections or prejudices now. The experiment of self-government which we are making has developed its own necessary conditions and laws. We could not escape from them even if we would. The experiment we are making, fellow citizens, is not a local or isolated experiment, whether the people of one nation are capable of self government. It is the experiment whether men of all nations are capable of self-government. Let us preserve it, relying that mankind in every country only needs freedom and knowledge to enable them to govern themselves more wisely and more happily than they have heretofore been governed.

Citizens of Oregon, it is long since we have known, though it is only just now that we have met each other. I have been made profoundly sensible of this fact by your invitation, which found me at sea, by the welcome given me on arriving in port, by the reception and munificent hospitalities bestowed upon me in your great commercial city of Portland, by the hospitalities, State and municipal, of this interesting Capital, and by wayside entertainments in the village, at the ferry, at the cross roads and in the farm house. If my presumption were equal to my gratitude, I should not fail to invoke forever, blessings fit for all sorts and conditions of men, upon Oregon.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 9.

New York News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Henry T. Moore, owner of Rutherford Park, N. J., shot and killed himself on Tuesday. He was worth about $200,000, and leaves a family.

The Erie Railroad Company recently bought fifty acres of land, with water privileges, at Hoboken, for freight purposes. They paid $1,600,000 for it.

The case of Sheridan Shook is postponed on motion of the prosecution till Saturday, to procure testimony.

The Board of Assistant Aldermen adopted a resolution of sympathy for the Avondale sufferers, and appointed a committee which is receiving liberal subscriptions. The Gold Board and Stock Exchange appropriated $3,000 for the widows and orphans, and the coal operators doing business here are raising a fund for the same purpose.

Funeral of Secretary Rawlins.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Early to-day a large number of persons were at the War Department, anxious to view the remains of Secretary Rawlins. At nine o'clock the doors were closed. All the army officers in the District were present. Several members of the Cabinet and the President arrived at 9:30 and went to the room where the remains lay. Mrs. Rawlins, accompanied by her father and small children of the deceased, and two brothers of the Secretary, with several female relations, formed a weeping groupe around the catafalque. General Sherman and several army officers, the Justices of the Supreme Court, members of Diplomatic corps, and several Senators and members of Congress, with other distinguished persons comprised the attendants. Solemn services were commenced at 10 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Wilson, pastor of McKendree chapel in this city, delivered a brief and impressive address after the preliminary services by other divines. On the conclusion of these ceremonies the friends of the deceased passed slowly from the building, Mrs. Rawlins; pale and sinking with grief and supported by Gen. Parker and her father, being the first to leave the room. This touching feature of the solemn ceremony intensified, if possible, the grief everywhere manifested. The few other ladies and immediate friends of the deceased followed, when the coffin was strewn with flowers and removed by a guard of honor, followed by distinguished pall-bearers. President Grant was much affected during the services. The funeral procession started about 11 o'clock, headed by a full marine band, followed by a battalion of marines and artillery on foot, a squadron of cavalry, a battery of light artillery and a line of vehicles two hundred or more in number, two abreast, extending from the Executive Mansion to the Capitol. Business was entirely suspended. It had been intended to place the remains in a vault, but yesterday it was determined to place them temporarily in a private vault, tendered for the occasion. The services at the burying ground were very brief. Dr. Wilson read the burial service of the Episcopal Church, after which a requium was sung by the Beethoven club. Mrs. Rawlins was much affected at the grave, and was supported on the arm of Gen. Parker. A salute of three vollies musketry and artillery concluded the burial ceremony.

The President will leave Washington to-night to join his family.

The naval authorities deny the report that a conspiracy really occurred on the United States frigate Sabine. Letters received from her officers since the date of the alleged outbreak make no mention of such an affair.

The floor of a balcony on Pennsylvania Avenue gave way this morning, precipitating a number of persons, who were witnessing the passage of the funeral procession of General Rawlins, to the ground. One lady was injured internally, and her son sustained a compound fracture of the thigh.

Storm in Rhode Island.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 9.—The gale last evening, from four to five o'clock, was the most severe since 1855, when the city was partially submerged. It ranged throughout the State. Several lives were lost in this city. The Hartford railroad depot was demolished. The Chesnut street church steeples were injured. Probably a hundred buildings were unroofed. Fruit and shade trees were destroyed. The Bristol railroad will not be passable for several days. Many vessels are ashore at Naragansett and Mount Hope bays. The sloop Resolution went to pieces at Wickford's harbor and two men were lost. Great damage is reported at Bristol, East Greenwich, Pawtucket, Fall River and other places.

The Dead Recovered from the Pennsylvania Coal Mine.

AVONDALE, Sept. 9.—The two experienced miners with twenty men have just returned from the mine. They report that they explored every part of the workings and are satisfied that all the bodies have been recovered. 108 is the number of bodies taken out.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, Sept. 10, 1869.

The latest quotation of gold in New York is 136@135⅝. United States 5-20s of 1862, 121⅞; 5-20s of 1867, 120. Legal Tenders quoted at San Francisco, 73½.

In the New York market, wheat is quoted at $1 75, or, $1 56 50@$9 50.

The Liverpool wheat market is 11s 2d, a little falling off since last report.

Our local money market is moderately easy, with rates for loans unchanged.

The produce market is dull and unsettled. The contradictory dispatches from the East have the effect to make buyers cautious. Flour remains nominally at $5 50 for leading brands, but there is really but little doing. Very little wheat is coming in, the farmers having by some means obtained an impression that an advance in prices is coming, while buyers are convinced that they cannot continue to pay even present prices. The millers of San Francisco have reduced their rates, and the agents of Portland houses write that a similar reduction must take place here, or consignments may as well stop. We continue to quote, extra white at 75c per bushel, but the figure is quite nominal.

All descriptions of bacon are scarce and higher—sides, jobbing at 17@18c. Lard in tins, is also one cent higher.

San Francisco produce market—Flour, San Jose extra, $5 75; outside brands, $4 75. Wheat—fair milling, $1 50; fair milling Oregon, $1 40; choice shipping, $1 55 @$1 70. As in this city, the millers and shippers are proceeding with caution, on account of the unsettled condition of eastern and foreign markets. The wheat exports from San Francisco during the month of August amounted to 794,575 centals, of the value (as manifested at the custom-house) of $1,434,348. With one exception, the above is the largest monthly export of wheat, both in quantity and value ever known in the history of the port. To carry away the wheat exported during the past month, 33 v[illegible] were employed, of which 30 cleared for England—a much larger number than in any previous month.

Merchandise market—Trade in most lines more active than at any time since the opening of summer. Groceries are active at prices unchanged. Quotations for hardware same as last week; trade much improved, and all goods firm at the figures in our tables. We observe a marked improvement in dry goods and clothing. Interior merchants are laying in fall stocks and our wholesale dealers are entering upon a busy season. Stocks are very large and [illegible]tments full.

The Edward James, in the Pioneer line, has lately cleared from New York for Portland with a full cargo.

The Adeline Elwood of the same line arrived arrived a this port on Wednesday and is discharging her cargo in excellent condition, at Moffitt's wharf.

The steamship Moses Taylor for San Francisco and Gussie Telfair, for Puget Sound, and Victoria, sailed Thursday evening, with full cargoes. The Geo. S. Wright is lying idle at present, but for what reason is not clearly understood. There are conflicting reports, some saying she has been sold to the N. P. T. Co.; others that she has been merely bought off or paid for lying up; others still, that she is voluntarily withdrawn by her owner. The trade to Puget Sound keeps well up.

THE EQUALIZER!

Treating Disease by Vacuum!

DR. H. A. BODMAN

HAVING PURCHASED HADFIELD'S EQUALIZER and the Patent Right for Multnomah county, would respectfully inform his friends and the public generally that he is prepared to treat successfully those Chronic cases on whom all other means of cure have failed.

Having used this Instrument in connection with his former practice for about three months, he is satisfied that it will accomplish all that is claimed for it in curing Chronic Disease. He does not believe in the system of advertising cases cured, but any number of such may be seen on record at his office, consisting principally of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Curvature of the Spine Nervous Debility, Dyspepsia, Weak Chests, Asthma, Narrow Chests, Weak Lungs, Weak Backs, Weak, Stiff and Rheumatic Limbs, Sciatica, Spasms, Epilepsy, Palsy, St. Vitus Dance, Prolapsus Uteri, Obstructed Menstruation, with all their concomitant Diseases, Impotency and all kinds of weaknesses of the Generative Organs. Spermatorrhoea [illegible] fidently cured in from four to six weeks without medicine.

He uses other remedies when necessary, but the Equalizer generally [illegible] forms the cure without the aid of any medicine whatever. It brings a greater supply of blood and nutrition to all weak parts, thus creating new life and tone, and health, and strength in those parts. It breaks up congestion and inflammation by equalizing the circulation throughout every part of the system.

Give it a fair trial and you will be satisfied with the results. It has been examined by thousands of physicians of all Schools of Medicine, and there has not been one dissenting voice to the correctness of the principle; all acknowledge that it fills a vacuum in the Science of Medicine.

OF

WEST OF THE CASCADES.

OLYMPIA, W. T., May 24, 1869.

THE UNDERSIGNED WOULD RESPECTFULLY solicit subscriptions to enable them to publish a MAP OF WASHINGTON TERRITORY West of the Cascades, compiled from the United States Surveys and the best and latest authorities. The scale is four miles to an inch, making the map sixty seven by fifty one inches. In addition to the topography of the country, the map shows the extent of the Surveys, the Indian and Government Reserves, the Prairie lands, the soundings of the principal harbors, and many other particulars not given in previous maps. THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE IS TEN DOLLARS; RETAIL PRICE, TWELVE DOLLARS. The map will be furnished, colored, mounted and complete, by August. It was forwarded in March to the establishment of Colton & Co., New York, for publication.

Subscriptions may be forwarded to Joseph Cushman, Receiver Land Office, Olympia; W. C. Painter, Walla Walla; A. G. Cook, Vancouver; S. J. McCormick, Portland, who will receipt.

We call attention to the following endorsements.

HAZARD STEVENS,
CHAS. A. WHITE.

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA, W. T., March 27, 1869.

C. A. WHITE, Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map, embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I desire to add my testimony to its value. Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound, I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in vouching for its general correctness.

This map will fill a want that has long been felt, not only among the residents of this Territory, but others, who are desirous of obtaining information of this portion of the "Far West," and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution.

JAS. S. LAWSON,
Asst. U. S. C. S.

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jas. S. Lawson, Esq., and will add that Mr. Chas. A. White is a practical Surveyor, and has had access to the township maps in the two Land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains, as being correct, and the only good map of the same territory that has been made.

HIRAM SMITH'S

Ophthalmic Panacea!

IS WITHOUT DOUBT THE MOST WONDERFUL EYE HEALER that has yet been discovered.

It CURES the most stubborn and hopeless CHRONIC INFLAMMATIONS, GRANULATED LIDS, FILMS, &c., as has been sufficiently demonstrated during the few months in which it has been brought to public notice. The proprietor is so fully convinced of its INFALLIBILITY that he WARRANTS A CURE OR REFUNDS THE MONEY. It can do the eyes no harm, and a trial of it is therefore without injury or expense to the patient if a cure is not effected.

It has cured cases of FIVE, SIX, NINE, FI[illegible] and even EIGHTEEN YEARS' standing in Ha[illegible] Linn county, Oregon, and its vicinity, to which the following persons will bear witness:

SUPREME COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The following proceedings in the Supreme Court, Thursday, Sept. 9th, are copied from the Unionist.

J. Sylvester, respondent, vs. E. Hartless, appellant. Boise, C. J.—This is a motion to dismiss the appeal because the assignment of error in the certificate does not point out in what particulars the judgment is erroneous. The assignment of error is, "that the Court erred in rendering a decree on the evidence in favor of the plaintiff for $707, and costs, whereas the decree should have been for defendant." The action was tried by the Court below and a general finding for plaintiff. The assignment of error is as general as the finding of the Court, and refers to that finding particularly. We hold this to be sufficient. It states in what particulars the judgment appealed from is erroneous. Motion to dismiss overruled. [illegible] and Strahan for the motion, Chenoweth contra.

[illegible], appellant, vs. Buffum. Motion to dismiss appeal. Not [illegible] appeal because same party had previously submitted a motion to the court for the same purpose, and on [illegible] grounds; held that one motion to dismiss should include all the grounds for the motion. Fay and Stout for motion, Dowell contra.

[illegible], respondent, vs. Stehman et al., appellant. This is a motion to dismiss the appeal because the certificate of errors by the attorney of the party taking the appeal was not incorporated in the notice but was on a separate paper. Motion to dismiss overruled. Held that [illegible] of the certificate with the notice, though [illegible] it, is a compliance with the statute. Moreland [illegible] Reed contra.

State of Oregon, respondent, vs. William Ellis, appellant. This is a criminal case. The defendant having [illegible] in the Circuit Court, and having appealed to this Court, was discharged from custody pending the appeal upon an undertaking fixed by the Court. After [illegible] was [illegible]ferted, the Court below ordered a new [illegible] [illegible]taking. This undertaking the respondent filed in the Supreme Court on the third day of the term. The appellant moved to strike this bond from the files of the Court; and the Court sustained the motion on the following grounds: That this bond constituted no part of the transcript and was not material to the [illegible] of error in trying the case. W. Lair Hill for [illegible], D. Shattuck contra.

[illegible] McCormick, respondent, vs. Wm. Sherlock, [illegible] In the Court below an exhibit attached to [illegible] part of disposition, was used in evidence by [illegible] below, (respondent here.) The disposition [illegible] the exhibit attached, was brought into the Court [illegible] the transcript, and one of the errors assigned by [illegible] was that the Court erred in not finding [illegible] exhibit showed plaintiff had no cause of action. [illegible] is contained in the transcript showing the [illegible] for which the exhibit was used in evidence. The [illegible] a motion to strike this exhibit from the [illegible]: No deposition or exhibit used merely as [illegible] on the trial below can be made a part of the [illegible] in this Court [illegible] it be made a part of the [illegible] in the [illegible] provided by the statute for [illegible] evidence into this Court on appeal. [illegible] Lair Hill for motion, Lansing Stout, contra.

[illegible] THE EXPRESS COMPANIES.—It was reported some time ago that a new phase of express business on the coast would soon be inaugurated, in consequence of the [illegible] of a [illegible]ful company, or rather combination at San Francisco. The following from the last issue of the [illegible] Herald, states the particulars of [illegible] and furnishes the nature of the contest: The 15th of the [illegible] month will witness the inauguration of a grand war between nearly all the express companies now in existence and some which will then come into being. The Central Pacific Railroad Company [illegible] of heavy capitalists will then organize an express company to be called the Pacific Express, to go into operation on the date mentioned. The Pacific Union Express Company has organized what is known as the United States Express Company, and the two will co-operate to do the overland express business on the Pacific [illegible]. In the meantime, an arrangement has been entered into between the Pacific railroad companies and [illegible] railroad companies, by means of which an effort will be made to force the latter into transporting express matter of the Pacific and Continental [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co. have been notified to [illegible] getting by the Pacific Railroad on the 15th, [illegible] with the United States, Adams & Co., and [illegible] Express companies will contest the right [illegible] Railroad to refuse express matter, unless [illegible] by the Pacific and Continental Express companies. On and after the date specified all express matter [illegible] will be transported as far as Promontory by the [illegible] Express Company, and thence to Omaha by [illegible], whence it will be forwarded to place of [illegible] the Eastern express company; and in the [illegible] the [illegible] railroads are to be [illegible] the [illegible] under the arrangement [illegible]. The Union Pacific Express Company [illegible] the fight, but will be probably in [illegible] with the Pacific at some time not [illegible] the termination of this grand struggle, [illegible] that the public [illegible] will not be al[illegible] [illegible] it is likely to be [illegible] that the contest will compel the intervention of [illegible] rates as to invite powerful competition and [illegible] to inaugurate a large and valuable [illegible]. By [illegible] down charges to the lowest [illegible] the field can be [illegible] and a popular [illegible] will foster the [illegible] and render it [illegible]. The [illegible] will be of [illegible] all the [illegible] companies and [illegible]; it will create a great sen[illegible] and [illegible], and may open [illegible] to many things of general interest [illegible] with the express business.

MILITARY ORDER.—Headquarters of the Army, A. G. O., Washington, August 10th, 1869.—General Order No. 28.—The following order received from the War Department is published for the information of all concerned: "Hereafter no squatter or citizen will be permitted to reside on a military reservation unless he is in the employment of the Government, in which case his residence thereon shall cease upon his being discharged. All intruders on Government reservations will be given reasonable notice to quit by the Post Commanders, and if any remain after the expiration of said notice, they will then be removed by force. By command of

GEN. SHERMAN.

The Vancouver Register says: "In pursuance of the above order, notice has been served on the Catholic Mission of Saint James, Captain Hakes, and Mrs. M. Field, that their occupation of the Military Reservation at this Post must discontinue." The order and notice have created great excitement among the residents of the town, as well as the occupants of the reservation.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.—Rev. Mr. Summerville, of Victoria, who has occupied Rev. Dr. Lindsley's pulpit in this city for several weeks, has returned to Victoria, and Dr. Lindsley will resume his accustomed place to-morrow.

The Advocate says Mr. Thomas Judkins, of Lane county, addressed the Sabbath school at the M. E. Church on Sunday last, on the subject of Missions in the South. Mr. J. is on his way to Tennessee as a Mission Teacher at his own expense.

The Marion County Bible Society held a meeting on the 6th inst., at Salem, elected officers for the ensuing year, and resolved to thoroughly canvass the county, and place the Bible or Testament in the hands of every person.

There will be an exhibition by the A. M. E. Zion Sunday school in Carter's building, on Alder street, between Front and First streets, on next Wednesday, Sept. 15th, at 8 P. M. Proceeds to be applied toward the liquidation of Church indebtedness. Admission 50 cents. Refreshments extra.

OREGON IN CALIFORNIA INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.—Our State will be represented in the California State Industrial and Mechanical Fair, to begin on the 14th of this month. Mr. J. W. Sutton, of this city, left by the steamer Moses Taylor, yesterday morning, to attend the fair, and to exhibit the model of an invention of his, of which we gave a description some months ago—a dynamometer. Mr. Sutton's instrument had been there already tested by practical engineers and pronounced a more exact measurer of power than any of those in general use, though it was then crudely arranged as compared with the finished model which he now proposes to exhibit. Since, he has revised it and added an indicator—a graduated scale. It is patented of course. Mr. Sutton hopes by this exhibition of his machine to bring it into such notice as will enable him to dispose of rights in California and, perhaps, elsewhere. The instrument will give no occasion for Oregonians to feel ashamed of their share in the California Exhibition.

VANCOUVER.—We learn from the Register that the Clarke County Agricultural and Mechanical Society had a meeting on the 8th inst., and amended the list of premiums. There are now eight premiums for trotting and running races, ranging from $20 to $80. The Fair will take place October 20th, 21st and 22d.

A campmeeting commenced on Thursday at the United Brethren camp ground on the Fourth Plain. It will continue throughout the week.

The Union and Sons of Erin Base Ball Clubs played a match game on Tuesday, the Unions coming out 12 runs ahead.

Fire Engine Co. Gen. Allen No. 3, will give a hop at their engine-house on Wednesday evening next. A general invitation is extended to all.

GONE.—The distinguished luminaries who have for some days blazed upon our city, singly at times and then again in conjunction, have gone—Vice President Colfax, Seward, Bross, Bowles, and their seconding orbs—all have gone; even the Brass Band—still playing. Mr. Colfax and his party started yesterday morning in the Cosmopolitan coach for Salem and thence onward and upward—up the valley and over the mountains. Mr. Seward and his party left yesterday morning by the steamer for San Francisco, and thence, perhaps, to Mexico; the Brass Band and their instruments went away yesterday by the Fannie Troup for Vancouver Barracks, and thence—to rest from their tooting. And now the city is quiet.

OREGON CITY.—We clip the subjoined items from the Enterprise:

Mr. Elliott, of O. C. R. R. Co., has purchased the mill of the Canemah Lumbering Company as a private venture.

On last Thursday we passed over that portion of the route of the Oregon Central Railroad lying between this place and Salem. The work of grading is progressing rapidly. We were informed by one of the Superintendents of the work that the Company would have the grading of twenty miles finished by the middle of week after next. From present indications, we would not be surprised to find it so.

COUNTER STATEMENT.—Mr. R. Phelps desires us to say that the statement published yesterday morning, upon the authority of Mr. J. W. Carter, in relation to the dissolution of partnership in the theater, was not a properly authorized statement. He says that Mr. Carter had no right or authority to make such an announcement.

SAILED.—The Dutch ship Andreas was towed down yesterday morning to St. Helens where she is to load with lumber for Hong Kong. The schooner Alaska has gone to Rainier where she will load with lumber for Honolulu.

BALL AT OREGON CITY.—The firemen of Oregon City gave a ball last evening, on the occasion of housing their engine in its new house just completed.

OREGON SUPREME COURT REPORTS.—J. G. Wilson, Justice of the Supreme Court has published the second volume of reports authorized by law.

LADIES, TAKE NOTICE!—MRS. C. LEVY has just received per steamer Oriflamme, via Pacific Railroad from New York, the first shipment of STAPLE and FANCY DRY GOODS for the Fall Trade; and as they are direct from first hands she is enabled to offer them at unprecedentedly Low Prices.

Use KANE'S IMPERIAL CONDENSED SOAP. It washes without rubbing. For sale by Allen & Lewis, Corbitt & McCleay, R. G. Sneath and all retailers.

LATTER-DAY DEMOCRACY IN MASSACHUSETTS.—We quote a few paragraphs from the speech of Mr. Adams, when accepting the Democratic nomination for Governor:

I think that the defeat which we suffered in the election last fall substantially settled the two questions of reconstruction and negro suffrage. Much as we dislike the settlement—and no one dislikes it more thoroughly than I do—there is no way short of revolution by which we can avoid it or overturn it; by which we can help accepting it whether we like it or not. It is settled for the next four years at least; and probably (looking to the Constitution of the United States Senate, which every man should bear in mind as the practical and actual Government of the country) it seems to me impossible that we can obtain any change for the next ten years at least. During that time this absurd policy of unrestricted, unqualified negro suffrage at the South will have to be thoroughly tried. Even when its failure is ascertained—even then, I think it probable that, in Massachusetts the moderate men will not favor any very extended disqualification.—I believe that by that time the white men of the South will have done—and they are doing to-day just what I urge you to do to-day. They are accepting the situation, taking the problem with all the inevitable absurdities attending it, and they are bending it to their own uses, as I would have the Democratic party bend the situation to their uses. [Cheers.]

But whether that is so or not, it seems to me that the time for that debate is past. Last fall it was proper to engage in it, and it was the duty of every man to urge that that terrific crime should not be inflicted upon us. But as reconstruction has been forced upon us—as it was—it seems to me that we should take it. We will look the matter in the face, and the problem now for us is, "things actually stand as things are to-day, (not as we would have them,) and what does the public welfare demand?" To act otherwise would be to be as foolish as would be a General who should cannonade an empty wood with the enemy firing away at his unprotected rear. Let such strategists waste their ammunition on the empty woods and on the debris of the battle field. [Applause.]

An old Scotchman of Boston, used to say:—"I'm open to conviction; but I'd like to see the man that can convince me!" Old minister Wells the predecessor of Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Braintree, Mass., himself a Scotchman, used to say: "It behooveth a Scotchman to be right; for, if he be wrong, he will be forever and eternally wrong."

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 11 1869

Impracticable Ideas of Reform.

A great deal is heard now-a-days about workingmen's conventions and labor platforms. Every reasonable and practical demand of our laboring classes should be and will be granted. Let labor conventions put their ideas into a consistent and practical shape, and no class or party can be found to make opposition to them.

But the trouble is, these conventions talk wildly on many subjects; and so far, few of them have talked with good judgment on any. The question arises, what do they want? A careful study of the platform adopted by the National Labor Congress will not enable a person of a practical turn of mind to discover exactly what they would have. There is fierce denunciation of speculators, bankers and capitalists, "who are praying like harpies on the fruits of honest labor;" but no particulars are given and no remedies are proposed. Then we are told that the tendency of things at this time is "to restrain and oppress the rights of labor, and subordinate its votaries to the merciless demands of aggregated capital and supercilious authority." But we are not informed as to the precise manner in which the rights of labor are now oppressed so excessively, further than that the national banking system is a source of great wrong to the laboring classes, and that the rates of interest throughout the country are much too high. And even here we are not shown in what the peculiar iniquity of the national banking system consists, nor are we informed of any adequte method whereby the rates of interest can be brought down below the figures which money will command in the market. In demanding that interest shall be reduced below market rates the convention simply acted as capitalists do when they demand that labor shall be reduced below market rates. Nothing can be accomplished for laboring men by such a policy. Again, this platform contains a resolve that "the revenue laws of the country should be so altered that instead of subordinating labor to capital, they may afford just protection to labor and the industrial interests of the whole country." Now this is just what would be done instantly if the authors of the platform would only point out the wrong and indicate the proper remedy. But they have done neither. They do not show us how the revenue laws operate so as to "subordinate labor to capital," nor is it likely they will, since it is well known that capital pays nearly all the taxes. Nor do they give us a draft of revenues law which in their judgment would "afford just protection to labor and the industrial interests of the whole country." There is nothing tangible in what they have presented. They deal in generalities, and never come to particulars. In this respect their language is very like much of the political writing we find in Democratic newspapers.

At last, however, when we have reached the eighth or tenth resolution we strike the key note of the whole. We get then an inkling of what it all [illegible]. One resolution tells us that the [illegible] should be paid in [illegible], and the [illegible] resolution declares that the [illegible] of Government bonds [illegible] is unjust and a violation of the just [illegible] laws. It took a [illegible] writing and resolving to get to these points, which really embraced all the convention had to say. But here again they have not gone into the subject. They do not state what the greenbacks themselves are to be paid with, nor do they point out a way whereby the constitution and the course of law can be reconstructed so as to enforce the doctrine of taxing the bonds. Further on the convention asserts that "voluntary associations of workingmen and women are entitled at the hands of legislation to the same chartered rights and privileges granted to associated capital." This is just what every body enjoys. And it is just what voluntary associations of workingmen and women now possess. No advantages as to chartered rights and privileges are enjoyed by associated capital which associated labor cannot also enjoy. Let workingmen combine, start [illegible] on their own account, manage them on the co-operative principle, and obtain for themselves all the profits which would [illegible] from this combination of labor and capital, controlled and directed in their own behalf. This course is entirely open to them. The laws are perfectly adequate for their protection in it. Let them do this and bring about that "emancipation from the control of capital" which is talked about so much. That emancipation can be secured in no other way. Legislation will not accomplish it. The law of demand and supply in relation to labor as well as to all other things which have a market value, is above all and beyond all legislation. We write these things through no motive of hostility to the interests of labor, for we are laborers ourselves and expect always to be such; but we write them simply that we may do our part in exposing crude and untenable ideas, erroneous notions and current humbugs. Those who conducted the convention from whose platform we have been quoting did not represent in these things the intelligent labor of the country. When such a convention presents anything of a practical nature the whole country will listen to it with respect and attention. We will take part with the formost in asserting and battling for the rights of labor when they are unjustly assailed, but we decline to join in visionary schemes with those who seem to think that they can force the adoption of such legislation as will enable men and women to live without work and reverse the primary law of their being.

Gems from the Democratic Press.

That our readers may not entirely forget what Democracy is and what it is doing in these times, we present below extracts from several Democratic papers in this State. We are sure that, notwithstanding the fact that these are times of unusual political quiet, there are many who will take some interest in knowing how "the time-honored principles" are getting along. The Eugene Guard of last week is wrought up to frenzy by the recollection of Sherman's march through Georgia; and, alluding to a remark in a Georgia paper, to the effect that if Sherman is the "coming man" it is to be hoped "he will not come that way again," the Guard goes off in this orthodox Democratic style:

> Perhaps the Georgia paper remembers the smouldering cities and homes, the desolate fields, the stolen pianos, the starving women and children, who were ruthlessly driven from their homes by the torch and the sword of Sherman and his thieving horde of vandals. No, they want no more of Sherman, they have too many of his kind there already, but when he "shuffles off this mortal coil" and his soul goes marching down the avenues of perdition, the fiends of the infernal regions will mount the flaming battlements of hell and welcome him as "the coming man."

This is conceived and uttered in the genuine "lost cause" spirit. The most violent and malignant of all those who were connected with the rebellion are the ultra Northern Copperheads, who, though thoroughly rebellious in principle, were too "prudent" to take any chances of getting whipped. The fighting rebels are now generally quiet; but the rabid wing of the Northern Democracy are as fierce and malignant as ever.

This party of purity, of moderation and of enlightened principles, as represented by the Guard and the Corvallis Mercury, talks as follows through the latter paper, of the Republicans:

> The leaders of the party opposed to us in this State have proved themselves equal to the task of perpetrating the most unblushing and diabolical frauds. They participate in common in iniquity, bound together only by complicity in odious crimes. They are full of perverse manœuvers and diabolical artifices; corrupters of morals, destroyers of every idea of honor, truth or justice; propagators of monstrous opinions; disseminators of abominable vices, and overthrowers of all authority.

Now this, coming from so pure and exemplary a source, must be considered "blamed severe." The Democracy never appear to such advantage as when assuming the position of a high moral party!

The Herald is not devoted so wholly to repudiation of the national debt as was its wont under its former editorial management; but it still puts in a word of advocacy for this favorite idea whenever it sees a chance. The following is a specimen:

> Wendell Phillips says that Andrew Johnson will surely be chosen a United States Senator from Tennessee, and that he will stand square for repudiation. It would be proper enough, we think, for Johnson to move repudiation of the national debt, since he as well as any other body knows by what villainy it was contracted.

Beriah Brown has devoted the last issue of his "one-horse weekly" to the work of squelching and extinguishing Gov. Seward. This diatribe is in Beriah's well-known canting, whining style; and thus he plays upon his harp of a thousand strings!

> Let those who will do homage to William H. Seward as a patriot or statesman, we will have none of it. From early boyhood we have had opportunities of personally observing Mr. Seward in his daily walk and in his public career, and have failed to see a single trait in his character calculated to command our respect much less our veneration. * * * It was he who gave the Republican party as a dogma the miserable sophism of the "irrepressible conflict" between freedom and slavery. * * * Such men as William Seward are honored where the love of liberty is absorbed in devotion to party and patriotism is only a catch-word to gull fools.

We are sorry to learn that such a man as Mr. Seward cannot "command the respect or veneration" of Beriah. But this is quite natural, since Beriah respects and venerates such eminent statesmen as Jo. Lane, Henry Clay Dean and martyr Vallandigham.

In General.

Beriah Brown says that those who go into his office to work are "in the line of promotion." This probably is on the principle that when there they could get no lower and any change must therefore be for the better.

The St. Louis Democrat reports that Mayor Cole, of that city, who has just returned from a trip overland, recommends "as an economical measure, that the Union Pacific Railroad Company lay up their road for the winter months, as the snow will be so great an obstacle." The Northern Pacific Company will build a road where it will not be necessary to "lay up" for winter.

There being some uncertainty in the public mind as to the amount of greenbacks which Mr. Pendleton proposes to issue, the Toledo Commercial concludes it is proper to state that he is in favor of putting out now enough to elect him Governor of Ohio, if anybody can tell what that is; and if that succeeds to his expectations, he will in 1872 favor another issue sufficient to make him President.

The reporter at Carlin, Nevada, who got up the magnificent story of the eclipse has found a new wonder worthy of his descriptive powers. The person who reads his gorgeous description of a cave found near that place will be unable to decide whether the cave itself or the genius who gives an account of it is the greater wonder. It must soon become a source of general regret that such a genius will waste its powers on the deserts of the sage brush State.

We have been requested to say that a subscription will be collected in this city to-day for the relief of the sufferers by the late terrible colliery disaster in Pennsylvania. The money contributed will be placed in the hands of W. S. Ladd, Esq., for transmission. The three local reporters for the city papers will receive contributions for the purpose. This is an opportunity for doing good which we hope will be responded to by our citizens with their accustomed liberality.

The Corvallis Mercury says: "The jury in the case of the United States vs. W. K. Smith, for alleged perjury, failed to agree and so the case went over, probably never to be called up again. What a parody upon Justice!" The Mercury need not flatter itself that this case will not be called up again. It will be called up again; and, inasmuch as so great an effort has been made by the Democratic press to show that Smith is an injured and persecuted man, we shall take the trouble to give the public a complete record of the testimony in the case. Then they can see for themselves what the deservings of the defendant are. The last jury stuck merely on a technicality, which will be out of the way next time.

VARIETIES.

George William Curtis thinks that although the Democratic party is no longer formidable as a party of principles, yet as an organized conspiracy against the purity of the ballot box it is still much to be feared.

There is a gentleman in New Albany, Ind., the father of several children, who is so polite that his wife has not seen him in his shirt sleeves for twelve years. He always remains in his room until he is arrayed in full dress, and none of his family have seen him in dishabille.

A California Chinaman having been shown by his mistress how to make a pudding containing three eggs, but having seen her throw one bad egg away, continued for months after, whenever he made the pudding, to use four eggs, regularly breaking, examining and throwing one away, as he had seen her do.

The editor of the Oregon Herald, says the Sentinel, betrays intense anxiety to know if the Asiatic heathen will carry our muskets in time of danger and win victory for us. We should think that the Herald gentleman, whose mouth is so full of patriotism, would prefer to carry his own musket and not ask a "rat-eating infidel" to do it. But such is human nature.

When Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Douglas, in the summer of 1858, made their memorable canvass of Illinois for the United States Senatorship, they frequently met on the same hustings and addressed the same audience. On one of these occasions, after Judge Douglass had made one of his most eloquent speeches, it came Mr. Lincoln's turn. Throwing off his overcoat, he handed it to a young man near by, and said, in his droll way; "Here you hold my clothes while I stone Stephen!"

The frequent marriage of widows seems to have been always more or less discouraged, men being allowed in this respect, much greater liberty; but St. Jerome mentioned a widow who married her twenty-second husband, he in his turn, being married to twenty successive wives. The championship appears, however, to belong to a Harlem woman spoken of by Evelyn in his diary, whose propensities for remarrying had to be checked by law: "She had been married to her twenty fifth husband, and being now a widow, was prohibited to marry in the future."

Extensive Cave Discovered in Nevada.

CARLIN, Sept. 10.—John W. Ellis, agent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, and E. Gillet, Superintendent of the railroad, arrived from Mineral Hill yesterday. They give the most glowing accounts of the richness of the mines there. During their stay, they discovered a magnificent cave, the entrance being so small that it barely admitted the passage of a man. After getting in, a large chamber with ceilings 50 feet high, hung with stalactites, which reflected light from burning torches a myriad of times. This magnificent hall seemed of enchantment, echoing every sound like the soft notes of an Æolian harp, and so far away that the ear failed to penetrate the distance. So vast was this natural structure, that the explorers, after traversing its marble floor for half a mile, returned to daylight to speak of the gorgeous scene. Another party will leave in a few days to more thoroughly explore this great wonder

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

The Vice President at Salem.

SALEM, Sept. 10.—The city is thronged with people, who have come from all parts of the country to welcome our distinguished visitor, Vice President Colfax, who arrived here at 4 this afternoon. He delivered a short address and has a public reception at the Wigwam to night. The party leave at an early hour in the morning overland to San Francisco. They express themselves highly pleased with their visit to Oregon.

It appears that the Rothschilds have, for the first time, entered largely into the business of buying our national securities. It is stated in Wall street that the late advances in these securities at London and Frankfort, was owing to heavy purchases made by this great banking firm. It is also stated the New York correspondent of the Rothschilds, August Belmont, is now in Europe in consultation with them, and it is probable that through his advice they are buying so freely of Government bonds. The almost boundless wealth of the Rothschilds will enable them to carry an enormous amount of our bonds, and it is estimated by capitalists and speculators in New York, from private cable telegrams, that it is their intention not to stop short of $100,000,000 if that amount can be purchased without advancing the price to par in gold.
